The Coastal Way

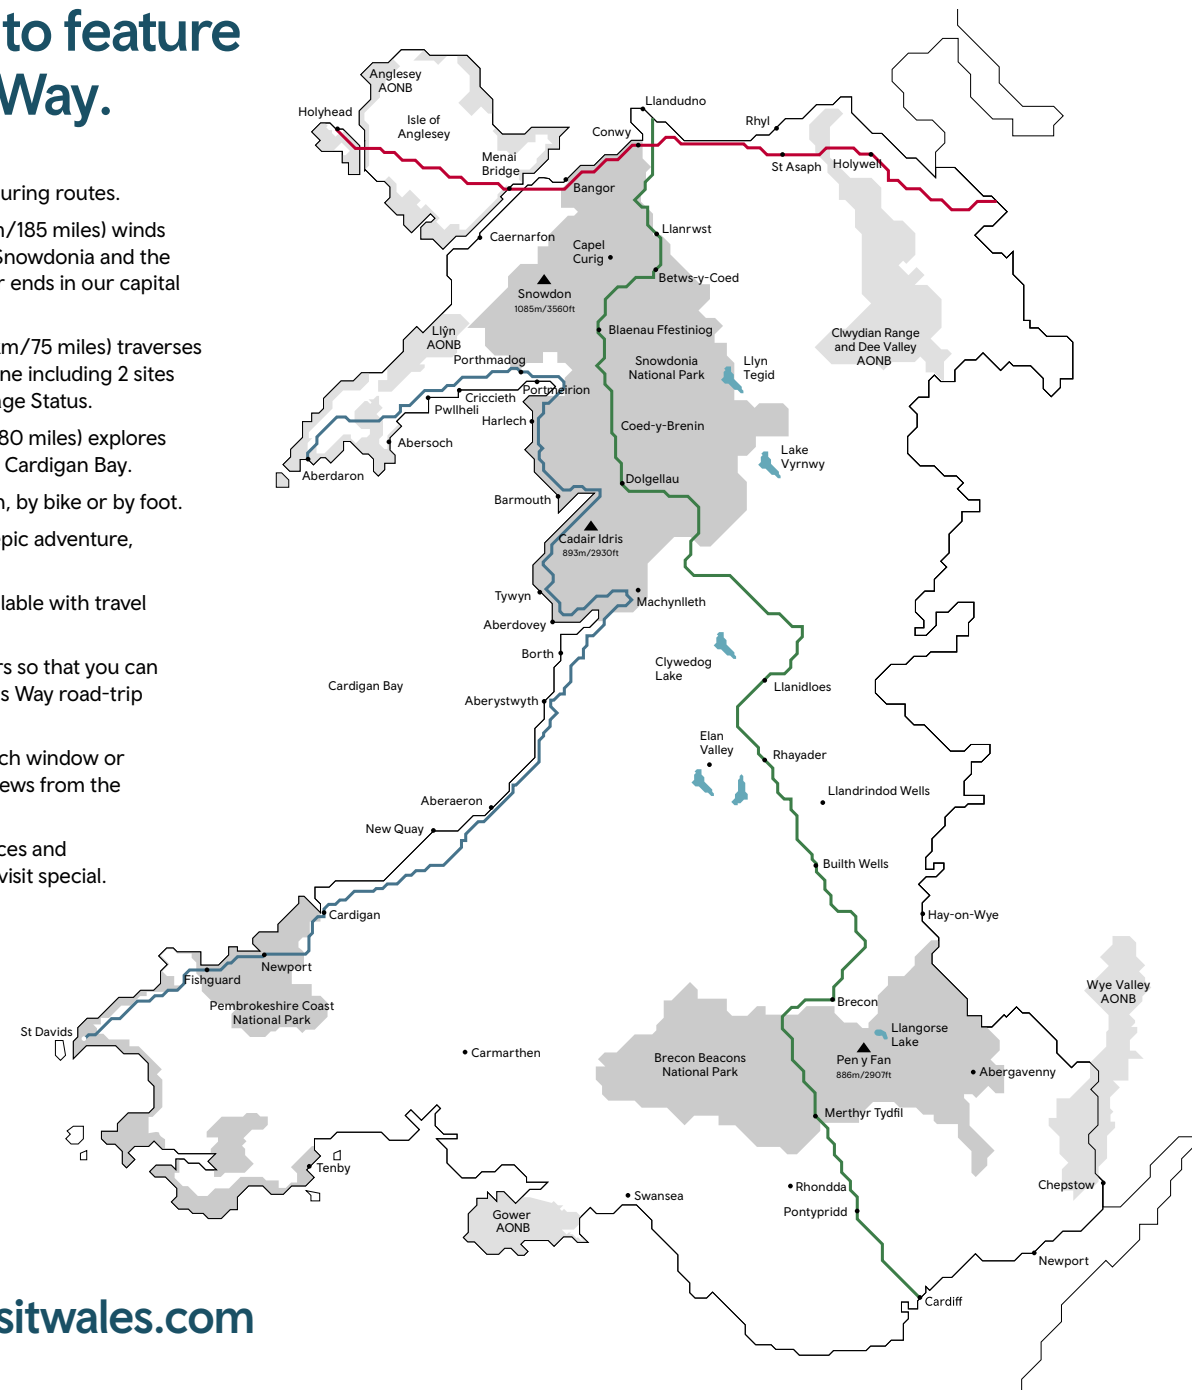

Ffordd y Gogledd
The North Wales Way

10 reasons to feature The Wales Way.

- It is a family of 3 national touring routes.
- The Cambrian Way (300km/185 miles) winds through 2 National Parks: Snowdonia and the Brecon Beacons. It starts or ends in our capital city Cardiff.
- The North Wales Way (125km/75 miles) traverses across the northern coastline including 2 sites with UNESCO World Heritage Status.
- The Coastal Way (290km/180 miles) explores the broad epic shoreline of Cardigan Bay.
- Plot routes by car, by coach, by bike or by foot.
- Weave all 3 together for 1 epic adventure, link 2 or pick 1.
- Themed itineraries are available with travel trade friendly product.
- There are loops and detours so that you can easily create a unique Wales Way road-trip for your clients.
- Whether it's through a coach window or walker's binoculars – the views from the routes are spectacular.
- Look out for surprising places and experiences to make each visit special.

Wales: Where? On the western shores of Britain.
One of Britain's most pristine places, with 3 National Parks, 5 Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty, 6 sites with World Heritage Status, International Dark Sky Reserves, Heritage Coast, Nature Reserves and Cardiff, our Capital city, is only 2 hours from London!

We have the warmest of welcomes and a deep-rooted passion – we call it hwyf in Welsh, the oldest living language in Europe. Croeso, Welcome.

Getting to Wales is easy.

-  2 hours by train from London. Connectivity to the national rail network and major cities.
-  3 hours by motorway from central London. 1 hour by road from Liverpool, Manchester, Bristol and Birmingham.
-  Cardiff Airport has direct flights across Europe and global links via Doha, Schipol and Dublin Airports. www.cardiff-airport.com
Wales is also easily served by Bristol (BRS), Birmingham (BHX), Manchester (MAN) and Liverpool (LPL) airports.
-  Direct ferry links from Irish ports.
